

Ensuring evaluation provides evidence to inform disability inclusion

From the Director's desk

As the year comes to an end, we are pleased to share a new resource from the Evaluation Office that further intensifies our efforts towards reaching the furthest behind first. The Guidance on disability inclusion in UNFPA evaluations comes right in time, as we move full speed ahead on the road to the Sustainable Development Goals in 2021, while ensuring no one is left behind.

This resource will enable evaluation managers and evaluators to mainstream disability-related dimensions in evaluation methodology and in all types of UNFPA evaluations. Accompanying this resource is the 2020 edition of guidance and tools on Evaluation Quality at UNFPA, along with the revised Evaluation Quality Assessment (EQA) grid.

This guidance is in line with the 2019 United Nations Disability Inclusion Strategy (UNDIS) and will support the implementation of the forthcoming UNFPA Disability Inclusion Strategy (2021-2023).

I'm confident this resource will deliver greater disability-focused evidence to UNFPA that will advance the organization's efforts towards transformative and sustainable inclusion of persons with disabilities across all its programmes and operations, at all levels. If you have any questions on the guidance, please reach out to me (segone@unfpa.org) and Messay Tassew (tassew@unfpa.org).
